Compliance Reminder for California Annuity Producers

Any life producer who sells annuities in the state of California must complete eight hours of approved annuity training prior to soliciting any individual consumers.

Producers are also required to complete an additional four hours of approved training every two years prior to license renewal.

Producers may search for education providers and courses as well as confirm their license status at the California Department of Insurance website. Aviva will obtain information electronically from the state so there is no need to send us confirmations or any other documentation.

If you need further assistance with your continuing education requirements, please call the California Department of Insurance's Producer Licensing Bureau at (800) 967-9331.

Doing business the Aviva way!
